MyMusicLab

Accessing and Using the MyMusicLab Website

An access code to MyMusicLab accompanies the textbook. MyMusicLab is a website that features the music noted in the Jazz Styles: History and Analysis textbook, and the required music for MHL145.

Getting Started

1. Log into the MyMusicLab website.

2. Select “Student” under the Register section.

3. Select “No, my course doesn’t require an ID.”
4. Select “MyMusicLab” as the platform.

5. If you purchased the textbook bundle, select “Yes, I have an access code.”

6. Then, select the following textbook:
7. Does your access code say it includes an eText? Select “Yes.”

   NOTE: This step is required in order to access MyMusicLab correctly.

8. Accept the License Agreement and Privacy Policy.
9a. First, if you have a Pearson Education account from another course, select “Yes” and enter your login information.

Or, if you do not have a Pearson Education account from another course, select “No” and create a new username and password.
9b. Enter your access code provided with your textbook bundle.

10. Enter your account information.
11. Click Login In Now to enter MyMusicLab.

The MyMusicLab website is a key accompaniment to Jazz Styles, and is full of resources to help you learn about jazz. The site includes the following features:

- Full etext book version: allows you to annotate key concepts in the textbook
- Active Listening Guides: help you identify key moments in each performance with streaming audio for most listening examples
- Listening quizzes: build your active listening skills
- Online Videos: 18 historic film clips of key jazz performances
- Documentaries: short films on key performers, places, and trends in jazz history
- Flash cards: allow you to self-quiz on key vocabulary
- Biographies: brief biographies of over 200 jazz performers
- Assessment: chapter questions with feedback to help you master the material

OPTIONAL: Do you want to purchase music to download for personal use?

Although it is not required (since all music is available online from the MyMusicLab website), a downloadable option is available for most of the listening examples on MyMusicLab at an additional cost. Purchasing this option separately allows you to listen to these selections on a portable music player.
